

I am traveling every other week thru Georgia and Flordia, often going on back roads and small towns where I cannot recieve any radio stations, the weather channel is important to me and very helpful on the roads for safety, I love the satellite radio because I can always recieve it, also on long trips the news and sports channels bring me up to date and are valuable tools, If the radio stations did a better job, there would be no need for satellite radio, But radio stations are getting worse, they are only advertisements and bad reception. Instead of improving their service to compete with satellite radio, they are trying to stop it. That is wrong. Make them imporve their service!
